

Yay chapter 2! Please R&R! I'm going to be adding a few (1-3) diary entries in this as I'm wanting to try a new style so be gentle with reviews on the entries.

Disclaimer: If I owned Naruto I wouldn't be writing this fanfiction, now would I? I do my own storylines. Naruto belongs to Masashi Kishimoto-sama.

Italics are diary entries and dreams.

oO Chapter 2 - Date With the Stars? oO

April 3

Dear Diary,

Last night after I got in bed the tears just came. I want to ask why? Why, oh why? But I think I know why. I just want to just crawl in a hole and die right now if my guess is correct. I've got the man of my dreams, and my job as a med-nin nurse at the Konoha Hospital is already set. My life is going where I wanted it to go since I was little. So... wait. I said I couldn't ask why. But still. I'd like to know why. Why is it he won't just disappear? Disappear from my thoughts, my dreams, my life?!

"Sakura-chan!!!"

Please tell me, diary. Offer me guidance...

Sakura turned from where she had been writing in her diary on the bench to see the ever-hyper blonde boy rushing towards her.

"Sakura-chan!" Naruto exclaimed upon stopping in front of Sakura.

Please...

Luv,

Sakura♥

"I'm going to watch the stars tonight after today's festival activities with Hinata-chan! Do you and Sasuke-b-... Do you and Sasuke want to double date with us?" Naruto asked cheerfully.

Sakura's heart was racing, as she mumbled something to the effect of "UhsureI'llhavetoasksasukekunfirstbuti'msureit'sfinewithhimsowherearewemeeting?"

Naruto took almost a full minute before he was able to pick apart what Sakura had said but he nodded cheerily before answering her question, "We're meeting on the private balcony. I've already bought it out for the night. So it'll just be the four of us."

"Mm..." Sakura gulped, "Mm-kay." She could feel herself blushing, feel herself being swept off her feet by this... this... annoying brat! How could this have happened?

"Sakura-chan? Are you okay? You're flushed." Naruto pointed out, putting his hand to her forehead. "You don't have a fever..."

"I'm just tired, okay? I didn't sleep well last night." Sakura retorted, slapping his hand away.

"Okay, then try taking a nap before tonight! Don't want you falling asleep!" Naruto smiled his million dollar smile and ran off happily.

"What a stupid idea. Taking a nap? Who does he think he is? He's not my mom, and what kind of a kid does he take me for? I'm sixteen. I'm not a little kid anymore." Sakura said to herself as she closed her diary and tied the ribbon back around its rough leather exterior.

She shoved the purple pen she had been using in her pocket and stood up. Looking in the direction of where Naruto had left she hoped for one last look at him before waiting what seemed to be an eternity to Sakura before waiting for the following night.

"Actually..." Sakura sighed after thinking about it a bit. "A nap does sound good, maybe it'll relax me."

"Uh, sorry, Naruto if I'm intruding. But Sasuke-kun couldn't come, is it okay if I just stay? I'll leave if you want me to..." She gestured to the stairs down from which she had come.

"No, that's fine. You can stay." Naruto answered coolly, much unlike him.

*"Are you sure?" Sakura took another look around the elegant balcony.
"Where's Hinata?"*

"She isn't coming."

Sakura gave Naruto a suspicious look. "But I thought you said-..."

"I lied." He had taken a few steps forward so there was only a minimal distance between the couple, just little enough to make Sakura feel uneasy.

"Excuse me?"

"I lied. Me and Hinata-chan broke up yesterday. Actually, I broke up with her. I like her, but I just can't-..."

Sakura smirked and stated coolly, "You talk way too much." She then closed the remaining distance between them and kissed him.

Sakura shut her eyes tighter and thinks, 'Oh thank god. It was just a dream...'

She slowly opens her eyes to see that at that moment she really was kissing Naruto!
